If you are not now receiving the printed version of the Arrow and you would like a printed booklet-style copy of this Arrow mail $5 (or $11 for the next year of issues) to YT Association, Box 65, Altoona, WI 54720-0065. Use your credit card by paying through PayPal. (Use: Actions, send money, Treasurer@yellowstonetrail.org)

In the beginning of the Arrow, nearly 20 years ago, every member of the YTA received a mailed printed copy of each Arrow when the postage costs were lower. The $10 annual membership fee covered it all and we could print and mail a copy to all members. But we gathered a couple thousand “contacts” of interested people and the Board decided that to motivate memberships (and reduce work -- we need volunteers for everything) that each Arrow would be sent digitally to all but those who did not have a computer. And, we hoped non-members would, upon receipt of an Arrow, join. Some did, many didn’t. The Board then decided that full digital Arrows were to be sent to members but non-members and those with expired memberships would be sent just the cover pages to keep them aware. And motivate them to join. It is just $15 per year! And the necessary operating expenses are not quite covered. Thus, to avoid a sense of guilt and enjoy the Arrow, join! It is rewarding.

Hamlet, Indiana, Yellowstone Trail Fest
2022 Theme “Back to the Future” Aug. 20-21

The movie series “Back to the Future” was shot in the Hamlet area and the YT Fest made the most of it this year. In addition to bike/walk/run contests and Cruise In on the Trail, tee shirts and pictures of Marty McFly, Doc. Brown and Biff reminded visitors of this year’s theme. At least ten events peppered the County Fairgrounds. The popular “Repurposed Metal Art” contest linked past with future, as did the antique car show. And the newer event, the “Game Show” certainly kept players alert to trivial facts of the Trail as well as the movie. See and learn more at: www.Yellowstonetrailfest.com

Hudson (WI) YT Heritage Day
Again there was a British flair to Hudson’s Yellowstone Trail Heritage Day Aug. 13. Austin Healeys, MGs and all things British filled a whole block. There may have been a Land Rover (very crowded to see for sure). Vintage and Classic cars were present also. There were so many that some overflowed the allotted space. Others were placed on the historic “dyke” which was the Yellowstone Trail route and bridge to Minnesota.

The ever-popular Sociability and Poker Run entertained gamblers from Hudson to Baldwin on the Trail with stops in Roberts, Hammond and Baldwin.

John and Alice Ridge held forth at the Geocacher’s Breakfast talking geocaching and the Trail. Dick’s Bar and Restaurant was the site, chosen because a bistro of some sort has been in Dick’s building for over 100 years. The Ridges later held a book-signing for their new, big history and travelogue book for the entire Yellowstone Trail.

Something new: a Yellowstone Trail “painting class” and a 1920s dancing class. What a hoot! Something old: the Octagon House Museum tours.

Now here’s an idea: We reported in the last Arrow that the Yellowstone Trail Heritage Day committee of Hudson, Wisconsin, gave copies of Ridge’s new book to all the libraries in St. Croix County to spread the word about the Trail. Perhaps readers could consult with their local libraries along the Trail?
The Yellowstone National Park Floods & YT

The unprecedented June flooding temporarily shut down the whole of the Yellowstone National Park, and destroyed - irreparably -- the only useful road into the Park between Gardiner and Mammoth.

Before the building of the US highway 89, that was destroyed by the flood, autoists from the north approached the park on the Gardiner Back Road. That early Gardiner/Mammoth route had been maintained as a one-way gravel, winding hilly route traveled only by those out exploring. All of the visitors arriving from the north on the Yellowstone Trail came down the west side of the river and continued into the park on the Gardiner Back Road.

The Gardiner Back Road that carried all the Yellowstone Trail traffic was again pressed into service, but not before being totally rebuilt in record time. Leaders of the rebuilding process reported “To transition from a dirt road 16-feet wide to the new paved route in less than five months was nothing short of a miracle.”

And for supporters of the Yellowstone Trail an additional proposal is of vital interest. Namely, the county is looking at reopening the old rail bed through Yankee Jim Canyon, on the west side of the Yellowstone River, as a secondary route. This would open the original route of the Yellowstone Trail to be visited again after landslides closed it a couple of years ago.

As the Yellowstone Trail Association builds for an exciting future, the first action is to choose a dynamic governing Board to plan new and exciting programs. The existing Board, diminished by death, aging, and Covid, has elected several new members, from New Jersey to Idaho. The first acts of the “new” Board will be to consider several additional appointments, to thrash out plans for action, and search for a new Executive Director, the person who gets things done. [The Board will be introduced in the next Arrow.] Help and advice is solicited from all readers. Drop a line to YTA@yellowstonetrail.org

Looking forward requires looking back to learn from successes and failures. We did. In that review of the past we became more strongly aware of the support we have received from Greg Childs. His substantial donations to the Association and his promotional efforts in Laurel, Montana, have made a difference. Thank you Greg.
